Meet Transfer Counselor, Luis Morales

Hometown:

Born in Mexico and raised in the Bay Area

Undergraduate Degree & Institution:

B.A. in Sociology, CSU East Bay

Graduate Degree & Institution:

M.A. Counseling Psychology, JFK University

Luis Morales is one of the academic counselors at Los Medanos College. He was the first in his family to go to college and was a transfer student himself. He attended Contra Costa College and received an Associate's Degree in Sociology before transferring to CSU East Bay.

During his career as a counselor, Luis has worked with students in the Honors Program. Recently, Luis has also been assigned to work with the Transfer Academy and general transfer advising. Among other activities on campus, Luis is the club advisor for AGS and the Helping Hearts Heal Club. He also serves as the Honors Advisory Board Member and United Faculty Union Executive Board Member.

Luis is looking forward to working closely with transfer students. To schedule an appointment with Luis, visit the Counseling Center today!

What to expect when you're expecting to transfer...

So you've done your research, you've met with a college representative, and you even attended a university tour. But some questions are still left unanswered as you wonder... what is it really like to attend a 4-year college or university?

Is it easy to make friends? How much does it cost to live in dorms or apartments? Where does everyone hang out? Where are the best study spots? Where are the best places to eat? What is it like to live with a roommate? Do I need a car? What is the campus culture like? Will I be home sick?

Join us this month for a new workshop series brought to you by the Transfer Center Student Ambassadors! Talk to current university students and LMC faculty/staff members who attended San Francisco State, UC Davis, UC Berkeley, and CSU East Bay! No registration required, just show up with your questions!
