| 8 | Local Discounts | <ul style="list-style-type: none">I. From Vice-President Garcia: “Many students are limited with food choices. Because of the high prices and the fact that we are college students and how some of us work part time, I think we should make agreements with primarily with food places to reduce food prices for students.” What she is proposing will make it easier for local food places. Garcia wishes to give leeway to college students by obtaining discounts at local food chains. Explained that it would be much easier to obtain such discounts from local places rather than franchises. Plans to compile a list for the spring semester, when she wishes for this to be implemented. Some places she has in mind include Jamba Juice, Starbucks, Chipotle, and Lumpy’s. Would want to pitch ideas with them in person.A. Senator Velazquez stated that this would tie well into his ideas. The forum he proposed in item #4, section III would be beneficial as the senate could go in-depth with “exactly these types of ideas.”B. President Cortez mentioned that because of the substantial time allotted for this item, the senate should go ahead and start planning right now. “Everyone should speak up.”C. Senator Velazquez talked about how he, by representing LMC, could reach out to community and have a greater presence by convening with business and economics majorsD. Vice-President Garcia interjected how at Harvest Park Bowl in Antioch, her and her group got a discount and only had to pay $4 after hours of bowling simply by negotiating. “We have discounts but it just isn’t known. Never settle for the first offer,” she ended. In mentioning “Sarah from Student Life,” she talked about Maya Cinemas. A way for LMC to have more of a presence could be to ask Maya Cinemas what is their slowest night is, then get metric for discounts that day. “We could contact the Chamber of Commerce in every local city then pitch ideas for sponsorship,” to which Senator Velazquez added that the senate could get the county involved as wellE. President Cortez, positively approving of the direction of the discourse stated that the senate should bring this topic back as action item for next week |

| | | <ul style="list-style-type: none">F. Advisor Nguyen stated that a booklet of local businesses would be very helpful for this projectG. Senator Havelhorst recounted of how, when she was in high school and had open lunch, KFC would come onto their campus to sell to studentsH. President Cortez supplemented Senator Havelhorst’s experience by suggesting that the senate could invite businesses to come on campus to sell for a day. Assured Vice-President Garcia that she “definitely won’t be by herself” as everyone will “pitch in.”I. There was a specification that the senate could work out a deal where a small percentage of profits should go directly to the LMCAS budgetJ. Senator Velazquez introduced another idea on how the school could generate large profits. “We could host a huge, huge event at the Concord Pavilion, bring food trucks, and bring a big star like Mariah Carey. It seems like a lot but we could work this around in a way that is affordable by also pooling into DVC and CCCK. President Cortez highlighted that “it is clear that we want to do big things. Having money would definitely help us.”L. When Advisor Nguyen asked what he/we can do to help, Vice-President Garcia asserted that she would like to delegate tasks. Together the senate specified that they will be focusing primarily on discounting food. Once delegated a responsibility, each person must go forth and contact their given businesses. Two people will be assigned franchises, and two people will be assigned for local businessesM. The Senate decided to brainstorm a list on the whiteboardN. Senator Alvarado asked when this would take into effect and Vice-President Garcia ensured that this should be implemented by next semester. She added that the senate should let incoming freshman from high schools know about the perks they could have in coming to LMCO. Senator Alvarado mentioned that along with his business club, they are collaborating with the computer science club on a project about building an application. He |

Vice-President Garcia who responded warmly to his idea suggested that the senate call it “CSP” (College Student’s Perks) and that this app should be LMC based. This could spread further west from here to Concord to Berkeley to San Francisco P. President Cortez stated that college students are unique consumers in that they already spend a lot of money on tuition and textbooks. As LMCAS represents all clubs on campus, it’s important for us as a body to prioritize and organize. Brought up how the Engineering Technology Club got their project with NASA approved and passed, beating ivy leagues Cornell University and Cambridge University and yet here was no coverage of this, according to LMC student Mark of Engineering Technology. President Cortez extended how there must be an order to things. “Talk to the San Francisco Chronicle. We have diverse student body. We can do all this but make sure the ultimate goal is to promote image of Los Medanos College.” Q. Senator Velazquez believes that there was nothing too broad that had been presented by any of the senate members. Brought up the point that, “students in their classes can’t have the discussions that we are having right now because they are busy, working hard to study. We’re here having these discussions for their benefit. We should continue to challenge ourselves and stay ahead of the curve.” R. Vice-President Garcia expanded that “the way you talk to others is how people perceive you. This is the way reality works...the fact that you don’t need a label of education to define you...when we do these events, don’t take it as if no one appreciates you. The hard work does pay off.” S. President Cortez closed off the item on a positive note, ensuring that the senate will continue to discuss this topic in the coming weeks |

How can we have a combination of both to benefit both college students and the community?” II. The senate brainstormed the following ideas for entire 2016-17 school year: <ol style="list-style-type: none">1. Battle of the Bands/Schools Music2. Battle of the Schools with DVC and CCC3. Night of Entertainment4. Conference with governor or senator5. Conference with athletics6. Conference for incarcerated people7. Carnival/Off-the-Grid A. Senator Alvarado brought up an idea about hosting a crab feed idea but upon the President and Vice-President emphasizing how the senate needs to “aim higher,” he mentioned that the business club will be having a speaker coming “so we should think about redirecting this small event to fit something bigger.” B. The senators talked about possibly inviting various sports stars to LMC such as Warrior’s basketball player Stephen Curry of Walnut Creek C. Vice-President Garcia the existing list writing “funding money or donations” D. Advisor Nguyen advised that a major requirement should be that this event should be open to all students, to which Vice-President Garcia bracketed further, “all students and/or public” and then further as “educational or recreational” E. Upon Senator Velazquez suggesting that, “we should delegate each person to research each sector,” Vice-President Garcia delegated each idea for each senator to research: <ol style="list-style-type: none">1.
