All Journalism courses are current within the five-year period as required by Title 5. One course however — JOURN 160: Photojournalism — is not showing as updated but it has been. It is a cross-listed course with ART 75: Documentary Photography, which was revised during the last academic year by recently retired Journalism and Art professor Curtis Corlew. The Office of Instruction informed him last year when the ART 160 COOR was approved by the Curriculum Committee that it would duplicate it electronically for JOURN 160 in the back end of eLumen — but apparently that has not happened yet.
