1	Online courses are extremely difficult for me and hard for myself to comprehend	5/12/2020 6:53 PM
2	So, I have to explain a little. My speech 120 which was in class at first moved online. Which went for the circumstances very well. My instructor Mr. Feere did an absolute outstanding job to help us through the process and showed a lot of understanding for the situation. My other course History 029 with Mr. Bearden started 2 weeks later as planned, no information were giving out to I wrote an email 3-4 days later. As he finally started the course he gave instructions and assignments. Couple of weeks later he was out again and a Lady took over. Assignments were due, but a miss communication between teacher, made the whole thing very confusing and nobody knew what to do. He propose the assignments and came back end of March. He assignment new stuff and when the due date came he collected the work and no new assignments were given. After I asked when new assignments were posted, I got no response for a week. I send him a private email again and he finally responded, with that he will put new stuff in tonight. Next day still nothing, another email came that he is working on it and post it by night. Finally another day past, and he posted more assignments. I understand life takes place, but if a professor is not communicating especially online, makes it very frustrating and hard.	5/9/2020 2:09 PM
3	Sorry to say but it's a fact that online classes are not good for those students who have had a lack of knowledge of technology and also English is his or her second language	5/8/2020 12:09 PM
4	Not all my teachers but certain ones were unhelpful with the transition	5/8/2020 9:18 AM
5	If I could separate each instructor my answers would change from Strongly Disagree to Agree	5/7/2020 12:06 PM
6	'neutral' - 1 course is a failure - despite instructors' heroic efforts - per no internet access.	5/7/2020 8:07 AM

13	my instructors have been very understanding and helpful!! I also had a huge issue!! my phone and pc died during the transition, i have borrowed a pc from campus!! Thank the Lord! and LMC !!	5/1/2020 12:30 PM
14	I would have gladly put agree on this, but I have one professor that has made the transition much more stressful by not listening to myself and my peers. Also feel like she would rather us drop the class than try to understand us because everytime we ask her to try to be more easier on us she says, "The college and I understand if you have to drop the class, it will go as a excused withdrawal."	5/1/2020 1:35 AM
15	My current professor did a terrible job transitioning. we struggled with her teaching prior but she has not adjusted her style to be online at all	4/30/2020 7:21 PM
16	Horrible teacher	4/30/2020 5:27 PM
17	My class was originally online to begin with, so no complaints. really.	4/30/2020 12:55 PM

CANVAS as well as insite, and so everything that we need is posted to Canvas and we are able to submit assignments on there. There has been excellent communication with announcements, power-point slide show lessons, and great communication with my professors through email.

24	Normally I take classes at LMC but this semester I'm at DVC Doctor Pallsen is amazing. He found a lab simulation online that is educational and useful. The time I save on community is going towards studying and that is a huge help.	4/29/2020 5:13 PM
25	This was difficult to answer because only one professor went above & beyond with support, and good transition while other professors did not! So the high ratings are for this one specific professor while the low ratings are for the other ones.	4/29/2020 2:03 PM
26	For my neutral response, some instructors were clear about expectations and some were not. One of my courses was already an online course and she was the most communicative and clear about the course trajectory. My 2 Biology courses were unclear.	4/29/2020 2:02 PM

He teaches my anatomy and while anatomy itself is a hard class to only learn online, he's very supportive and encouraging. He's on top of it especially with responding to questions, emails, and problems. He's a really great professor.	4/29/2020 11:48 AM

64	Math 110 has done a good job of online teaching by using video lectures and having notes we can print out and follow along with the video. Reading lectures is hard to remember and difficult to tell what areas teachers want to emphasize so a video recording of the teacher's lecture is really helpful and makes the class feel less like a "self-taught" course. Live meetings of class through zoom are great because it is easier to ask the professor questions than trying to send them a message in canvas. I think it also gives the professor a better idea of what each student is understanding and which students may need more help. Not all teachers are utilizing live meetings but the ones that do are much easier to access with questions if I am not understanding the topic.	5/4/2020 1:46 AM

#	RESPONSES	DATE
1	Just a lot of busy work or none at all due to teachers not necessarily knowing how to use online system or myself knowing how to use as well.	5/12/2020 6:53 PM
2	Getting my books and zoom did not work at all	5/12/2020 12:18 AM
3	No	5/11/2020 5:49 PM
4	My professor did not really know how to do it, and I do not blame her at all. It is very difficult transitioning a language class to online	5/11/2020 2:33 PM
5	The math lab is not always available online as in person.	5/11/2020 1:57 PM
6	calculus made a terrible online transition. its harder in general.	5/11/2020 9:50 AM

14	No, I had speech, which was awkward but he did a great job to make it work.	5/9/2020 2:09 PM
15	Tutoring has really not been great, I feel like I've been on my own	5/9/2020 9:39 AM
16	I was able to get my assignment and submit them online. I felt like I was given a substantial amount of time to complete each assignment.	5/9/2020 7:13 AM
17	My entire macro economics class is a mess. I had no idea what was going on with that class until I was already a test behind. I do not know how this is possibly being considered higher education	5/8/2020 6:56 PM
18	Nope	5/8/2020 12:38 PM
19	Yes many but maybe I can't able to convey properly sorry	5/8/2020 12:09 PM

25	My sociology teacher was radio silent when the school closed and we had no updates on canvas for weeks. He then uploaded multiple assignments at once and when I missed an extra credit quiz and another assignment, he refused to let me submit it and said he couldn't change the whole course for one student. We're living in really stressful times and I've tried really hard in this class just to get a mediocre grade because of this transition to online classes. I sent him another email, asking him to please reconsider given the circumstances and he is not responding.	5/7/2020 9:30 PM
26	no	5/7/2020 12:08 PM
27	WELDING!!!	5/7/2020 12:06 PM
28	So many technical difficulties. Lack of what was coming up.	5/7/2020 10:02 AM
29	One of my teachers is completely lost. Everything I've learned in that class has been what I have taught myself. I feel every teacher should have an online backup prepared before the start of the semester just in case.	5/7/2020 9:56 AM

44	No, in online courses i feel like i am learning nothing, instructors are unclear of due dates because they do not know how to use canvas which caused me to miss assignments and they are stating that they are not accepting any late work. How can you expect us to turn things online when you put no due date on the assignments but state you are accepting no late work?????	5/5/2020 2:29 PM
45	Class assignments are very difficult to transition into online work	5/5/2020 1:53 PM
46	Some of the professors' expectations for zoom meetings are unrealistic, due to the Pandemic not everyone can be online at the same time every week. For many of us who are still working, our work schedules have changed drastically.	5/5/2020 1:01 PM

74	There are 3 specific things that could be improved with online learning. First, Some teachers are using a 3rd party program to proctor online tests (mostly math classes). They are a huge violation of student privacy requiring students to give this company a picture of their ID with their home address, pictures of the inside of their home, permission for the company to control your internet browser, and recording videos of students taking the test which this company can keep in perpetuity. With all of the data breaching happening nowadays there is no way the school can guarantee this invasive company can keep our information safe. Test proctoring should be done only by teachers and LMC staff because forcing me to give my secure information and pictures of my home to a 3rd party company is not okay. Luckily for me my professor accommodated my preferences by us scheduling a zoom meeting where she live monitored my screen and I was on video for her to see that it was really me and that I wasn't cheating. I am concerned that other professors won't be as accommodating and I will have to make the choice of my personal privacy or not taking a necessary class for my degree. Second group projects and third discussion boards are horrible in an online environment. Everyone logs on at different times and no students actually want to schedule meetings or save their group work until the day before it is due making it difficult for any teamwork to happen. The discussion boards work fine as a forum but, a real "discussion" needs to be either live on webcam or through a live chat, not having the back and forth conversation makes it more of a forum rather than a discussion.	5/4/2020 1:46 AM
75	When doing online presentations, it is hard to get materials for posters and to print things out since I do not have a printer at home and usually use the printers at school.	5/4/2020 12:58 AM
76	retaining the information, studying	5/3/2020 9:47 PM
77	Certain professors assigned multiple assignments for students to complete, but I did not have the luxury of staying home and my hours at work actually increased making it difficult for me to keep up with my assignments unless I stay up super late to finish them.	5/3/2020 7:58 PM

124	I think moving to an online anatomy class could would if that is the only chance if it was better prepared. I take online courses and they are set up very well but this class is a need some work if it had to go forward. The class is hard and is a lot of memorizing structures and functions. In class you know what the teacher will test you on. You can study that model over and over but online we had no idea what models the teacher would use. Then you open the test and you can't figure out what the picture is. Then you stressing even more because you timed and you can't figure out what the teacher is pointing at in the picture.	5/1/2020 4:15 PM

163	some teachers are making online classes more difficult than being present in a classroom	4/30/2020 3:24 PM
164	At the beginning of the semester, I was taking three online classes and three in-person classes. I decided to take some of the courses in person because I knew I would have difficulty learning some of the subjects like math. Now that all my classes are online, it's been challenging to keep up with all the assignments, one because I have a slow laptop that needs repair. It was ok to use it during the three first online classes, but now that I have six classes, my computer can't keep up with all the material and assignments. Second, two of my online instructors from the three initial online courses are not supported at all. When I ask them for more time to turn in an assignment because of all the classes that I am taking online, COVID-19 anxiety/depression, and my slow computer, they say that they can't give me more time and that this current situation shouldnt affect their online courses. What these professors are doing is unreasonable because the times that we are living are hard, COVID-19 is affecting me financially, professionally, and mentally. This current situation is affecting me even more because I don't	4/30/2020 2:08 PM have the proper support from my professors, and I don't have a reliable computer. It is not only affecting me but the society in general, this is something new, something that I have never experienced before and not sure what the future holds. I can't afford to drop out of my classes because the college system doesn't want to be flexible in this COVID-19 situation. I am a first-generation college student; I received financial aid to have the opportunity to go to college, can you imagine what would happen if I ended up dropping all my classes. It is unfair for the instructors not to allow students more time to submit assignments because online professors should also understand that now students have all of their classes online, and it is hard to keep up with them along with the other problems. To move on to another concern, I feel that in-person instructors should allow students to resubmit assignments for a better grade. For example, the in-person now online math class that I am taking was already challenging in person; imagine how difficult it is now. The professor is a harsh grader and doesn't allow second chances to help me understand the mistake and get a better grade. Please put yourselves on my shoes as a student is hard to understand a material online. That is why it is essential to give students feedback and chances to resubmit assignments to help them learn, grasp, and be successful in college while this COVID-19 challenging situation and not led us to drop out of classes for lack of empathy and support.

228	On the other hand, my other class with professor Archuleta was a nightmare. I do have issues about how her class was conducted before the shelter in place order with I still plan to address at an appropriate time. In regarded to our current situation. She made her classes zoom classes that were held a the same time/day. I have a child, who was in care at the child study center. I can zoom when I have to feed my baby to out him down for a nap. Additionally, she added quizzes and believe exams to her class. Before her class was based on lectures and group work and/or papers. Why why why would you add this on top of the situation we are in? How is a professor allowed to literally change the class to make it more difficult? If your class was lectures and papers before it should be the same!! I could understand the zoom thing maybe but not the added stresses of quizzes and exams.	4/29/2020 5:34 PM
229	Personally it didn't seem like a few of my instructors were ready for the switch to online learning which I hard to believe because about 2 weeks before the switch a few had talked about which direction the school will go in regards to continuing learning. So they knew things would change but when the time came they didn't seem prepared for it and I was not prepared for the extra workload.	4/29/2020 5:34 PM
230	Everything worked out wonderfully! I give an applause to all of the supportive staff, admissions, counseling department, counselors, and all of the wonderful professors whom have all helped make this transition as smooth as possible. I personally enjoy studying and working from home. I feel as though the material is the same, we have all necessary information to learn and complete assignments , and I can work in a quiet environment.	4/29/2020 5:28 PM

232	I felt it was pretty sudden so it was hard to adapt to online learning which many students didn't ask for and learn better in person now being forced online. But once you get the hang of it, it is easy and can be efficient way of learning during the pandemic. It is the safe way of learning and I hope this continues until social distancing orders start to ease.	4/29/2020 5:20 PM

247	The lack of understanding from professors. I'm not able to be on the computer every time im in class due to connection and how awful zoom has become. Home environments aren't the best places for schooling, I'd rather just do the assignments and not join the zoom meetings.	4/29/2020 3:33 PM

292	I believe that we need to have more flexibility with assignment/class activity due dates and classroom attendance. With the switch online many of us have newfound responsibilities, including overall stress and anxiety related to COVID. For instructors to assume that everyone has equal access to a healthy/stable home, technology, food, good health, printers, (car to receive food from the food pantry), etc. is inequitable. Our syllabuses should be adjusted with clear and fair late policies, and instructions on what to do in the event you are unable to meet expectations for scheduled assignments/meetings. In some classes we switched to online discussion board instead of zoom lectures/discussions, meaning the workload then significantly	4/29/2020 12:45 PM increased. Prior as long as you did your reading/participated in discussions you received points, then it was switched (with covid) to be that we had mandatory discussion posts and peer comments in addition to regular workload. Another issue was there not being overall flexibility in work assignment due dates. I had a doctors note, but because the professor wanted to make sure the class had equal access to information in the form of posting answer keys on the homepage, I was unable to turn in work once my doctors note was finished. I was given deadlines a couple days past each assignment due date, instead of being given the time that my doctors note requested I had off. It is also difficult working with assignments if they aren't always posted as an editable/downloadable file In certain classes the file types being uploaded are different, sometimes it's a pdf, sometimes its word, sometimes it's a link to an online pdf, and other times its links to articles like the new Yorker that I don't have paid access to.

423	Having unreliable internet made it hard to attend zoom meetings	4/29/2020 9:47 AM
424	Some instructors who clearly never worked through canvas give us too much homework and not enough time to submit our work. They even give us more work to do than they give us when we going face to face classes and at the time we have test or quizzes they give us less time than the time we had on their class. Other problem is that when is windy and we doing a test or quiz and the internet is crushed even though we comunicate with IT service to help and fix the issue the instructor don't give us a second chance to finished or test or quiz because their "time frame" passed. So no make ups under circumstances I can't control Lille the interruption of internet service because the challenging weather or the power or the canvas crushed....	4/29/2020 9:46 AM

436	Yes, thank you for asking. Another classes are not learning good because some professors just go to zoom and give the Unit with homework or video to student; they don't teach detail. I wish they can teach and discussion more on Zoom. I like teacher Antony teach on Zoom, he was working 2 hours and explain everything. I want 2 another my classes can do same Professor Cosiggin. Sometimes I join to Zoom but teacher just said: do you have a question for me? I wish they can open the book or have some lesson can share on zoom to teach students. Thank you.	4/29/2020 9:35 AM

448	Transitioning to online quizzes and tests was very difficult. Especially because they're timed, it just stresses me out even more than I already am with everything going on right now. I usually always study a lot beforehand and do really good on them but recently it's been very difficult, for I've been struggling to concentrate and function. It has made me focus more on the timer than the actual quiz or test.	4/29/2020 9:28 AM

460	Yeah the only thing was having to teach myself everything, on how to do math. I wish my teacher understood its not easy when we don't get that face to face interaction, it makes it hard when I have questions about certain things.	4/29/2020 9:23 AM

469	Most of my class work I had to do outside research to understand the material	4/29/2020 9:20 AM
470	My socio class with Alexander sample is basically a lecture class with tests (there are zero assignments) he didn't change anything about His curriculum except he is no longer teaching us what is on the test. Also Mr. Lemay has an issue with remembering things in person and online he changes his due dates every other day so I cannot count on him	4/29/2020 9:20 AM
471	I need in-person teaching to learn. Online, it goes in one ear and out the other.	4/29/2020 9:20 AM

474	It's too hard when you're taking full-time classes all online. The teachers don't care about other classes. Life has shown up for me I've experienced death illness and many more issues.	4/29/2020 9:19 AM
475	Yes , that I can't get into my online classes and do my homework because I try to work anywhere , I have a baby a house and I have to provide for him , and now I don't know about my grades at this point .	4/29/2020 9:19 AM
476	There is none for the lab classes. They should have been cancelled and our fees refunded or automatically transitioned into next semester with automatic Enrollment	4/29/2020 9:19 AM
477	Literally anything in the STEM department	4/29/2020 9:18 AM
478	Difficult to determine which assignments are due for the week, many of my professors simply email us assignments and do not use canvas effectively. With everyone emailing information, it's easy to overlook assignments. There also has been a lack of communication with some of my professors since we've gone online.	4/29/2020 9:18 AM
479	Not having zoom with teacher and just communicating via canvas. Information is sometimes not received and It's hard for me to gain the knowledge just by looking at PowerPoints and not having someone explain.	4/29/2020 9:17 AM
480	Teachers don't care about student just give out a lot of work expect the students to finish during this lockdown	4/29/2020 9:17 AM
481	extra assignments were made and were more difficult.	4/29/2020 9:17 AM
482	Since it was a Fitness course, although I can continue activities, I cannot use any of the circuit training equipment in the new KAC.	4/29/2020 9:16 AM
483	Some professors of mine are extremely disorganized when it comes to clearly laying out expectations for assignments, providing resources to assist with homework, and grading. However, on a general level nothing comes to mind.	4/29/2020 9:16 AM
484	There feels a lack of resources to get help outside of teachers. I applied to get a tutor online appointment and nothing ever followed.	4/29/2020 9:16 AM

487	Access to necessary technology for online learning. A webcam, a laptop, a printer for assignments, etc.	4/29/2020 9:16 AM
488	Some classes became difficult to assimilate to the informations	4/29/2020 9:16 AM
489	My class was already online	4/29/2020 9:16 AM
490	math classes in general are hard to learn online.	4/29/2020 9:16 AM
491	My EMS professor was rude, degrading, cancelled classes, held class on a day other then our scheduled class, delayed a make up test for me.	4/29/2020 9:16 AM
492	Zoom use and transition is uneven. There are differences between starting Zoom within ConferZoom versus external. Some of the Zoom passwords (the random ones) were difficult to enter in on a cell phone. Some faculty do not know several of the capabilities of Zoom (polls, screen sharing configurations, etc.). There has been some configuration changes regarding screen sharing defaults recently as well, which led to problems. Videos within Zoom are not playing well. There is video stutter and sometimes audio stutter.	4/29/2020 9:15 AM
493	Video	4/29/2020 9:15 AM
494	Most everything. It is very hard to keep up.	4/29/2020 9:15 AM
495	keeping up with my schoolwork	4/29/2020 9:15 AM
496	Taking exams! It's very stressful to take timed tests while on a zoom call or having to show our desks because internet can be spotty and many people aren't able to set up multiple devices in order to take exams!! Teachers need to be more lenient with exams because its distracting to take tests at home + the added factor of stressing to turn in the exam on time since many STEM classes require exams to be on paper and scanned and turned in on time. Its ridiculous expectations.	4/29/2020 9:15 AM
497	I was not able to see my professors face to face and get the help I needed.	4/29/2020 9:15 AM

503	I don't have a space in my home to work on schoolwork effectively	4/29/2020 9:14 AM
504	lack of teachers putting assignments on their assignments folder on canvas	4/29/2020 9:14 AM
505	everything else	4/29/2020 9:14 AM
506	Some professors did not have the equipment necessary to transition efficiently which was no fault of their own	4/29/2020 9:14 AM
507	I prefer online learning.	4/29/2020 9:13 AM
508	I'm not learning anything, I didn't come to college to pass I came here to Learn. This online remote stuff has been terrible, I am failing because you guys want to force me into an area where I can't have the ability to learn after loosing my job and barely having enough for rent	4/29/2020 9:13 AM
509	Lab hours. One of the classes I'm taking requires lab hours with teaching and that transition from teaching in-person to online is a difficult one. For that class in particular, a lot of my work I feel is up in the air and I don't know what to do.	4/29/2020 9:13 AM
510	Definitely math, I didn't sign up for online math lecturers because I have a hard time learning that way.	4/29/2020 9:13 AM

9	Money is tight and my income has been reduced due to the outbreak of the virus and I'm barely eating and barely able to pay my bills	5/5/2020 5:40 PM
10	It's hard to have my own alone time for school work. It's nice having all of my family members at home, but in terms of school, it's been difficult putting boundaries for school time.	5/5/2020 12:18 PM
11	Due to my disability I am in pain trying to complete all the typing, but unable to purchase the correct software needed to help due to loss of income.	5/5/2020 12:07 PM
12	I didn't have a computer until about a week ago, so I fell behind in my class assignments to the point that when I did finally get a computer I was so far behind that I definately tried to catch up, yet the reality is that I took the excused withdraw for my English class and I'm really debating doing the same for my Psychology class as well. I definitely had to do a lot of thinking,soul searching and decision making while carefully taking my mental health into consideration.	5/5/2020 4:20 AM

33	Better teacher	4/30/2020 5:27 PM
34	I need empathy from the college system to understand how hard it is for students to move all of their in-person classes online. Instructors at LMC should be ethical and creative to come up with resources and strategies to help students cope with their classes. It is not the student's fault is they are having a challenging college experience is the college staff for not training their professors to be engaging, supportive, and provide all the resources or the help the students need during these uncertain times.	4/30/2020 2:08 PM
35	As I am registering for summer classes, I noticed that my classes have not had books posted on the textbook page. It would be great if teachers posted the required textbooks before classes start, as I am checking on it daily.	4/30/2020 12:55 PM
36	I don't know how to use a laptop	4/30/2020 12:45 PM

49	I have a baby to care for. I can only study when he goes to bed. But I am also tired.	4/29/2020 5:34 PM
50	The workload seems to be much more than before and that may be because a few classes are harder for me and I do better in a more face to face environment so doing things online for those classes has been harder. Now more than ever trying to balance out time between work and school has been a much stressful process.	4/29/2020 5:34 PM

well. They also have helped make the transition smooth by having communication with her. They too use zoom, google classroom for meetings, class instruction, and to turn their assignments in. I feel as though online communication (email, etc.) prior to homeschooling and after has been a smooth transition helping me to focus on my college work as my daughter can work on her work in a quiet environment. So we are both doing well in this aspect.

56	I'm a full time single mom, a full time student at a university, a part time student here, and now a full time teacher. There are not enough hours to do all the jobs let alone now I may have a full time position that I would have to go to during this time. I know it will get easier with time and I just need to transition. If you guys have any resources for how to be a homeschool teacher and a full time student that might be useful to add to the websites for additional resources.	4/29/2020 3:32 PM

64	Finances	4/29/2020 1:17 PM
65	I am having such a hard time because I am constantly being pulled into many different responsibilities. I'm pressured at work to work OT in order to get us caught up with back office work. All my classes are online but I am a mother of 2 toddlers so I normally visit Barnes and Noble/ Parents house in order to get my studies done, unfortunately with shelter in place I have no where to go to and must stay home to get some work done, making it extremely hard to concentrate on school. There is a lot going on right now and just a lot of adjusting. Between laundry, cooking for my family and caring for my 2 year old and 4 year I must either put them down for a nap in order to get work done or wait till their bedtime at 9pm so that I can study. My nights usually end at 2am and I have to be up by 6am in order to make it on time for work at 8am. To add to this, all the stress of working with the public gives me so much anxiety that I could carry this virus back to my family.	4/29/2020 1:15 PM
66	I do not have a quiet place to do my studies.	4/29/2020 12:47 PM
67	I have had my own health issues at this time. And I do not have access to a chair, thus increasing my risk of injury and significantly increasing pain amounts/adding stress to my joints making it more difficult to sit through lectures/complete any studying/work. I am in DSPTS and when in physical classrooms have seating accommodations. I must now do any and all work on the floor or on the bed, and have had pain levels increase significantly.	4/29/2020 12:45 PM

90	I just suck so bad at computer stuff	4/29/2020 10:26 AM
91	For my speech class it was hard to give a speech to my audience just because I had included a PowerPoint and a minute of a YouTube video but it was awkward to just show the camera the video through my phone. That's just a matter of me learning how to include my visual aids through zoom.	4/29/2020 10:24 AM
92	It's not that I don't have time for school but it's challenging to keep up with assignments and there's a lot of overlap of when they are due so in a week, even though it's online, there's a lot to do. When I take breaks it's to eat,shower, or do chores and then back to online work. But it's manageable when the due dates are pushed back or professors give us extra time to turn something in.	4/29/2020 10:18 AM
93	It has been very difficult having to assist my children with distance learning and having husband work from home, we are all stretched thin. Resource Needs for Summer and Fall

#	RESPONSES	DATE
1	Provide some sort of physical/in-person support to the students that need it. I know that's hard but for myself I need in-person lectures and structure in order to succeed. If courses are online in the fall I will most likely have to take a break from school... yet again because I have a extremely hard time with online learning.	5/12/2020 6:53 PM
2	Fall	5/12/2020 12:18 AM
3	Not much due to corona virus. But I am comfortable taking my classes online except for like math and like engineering classes or physics (those I need an in person class).	5/11/2020 5:49 PM
4	I've never taken an online class since I've been at LMC from 2009. I need to be able to talk to a person when I need help at the time, not hours later. That's why I loved the math lab. I was able to go to be proactive in getting helping to understand the next unit before my class would started on it. I need that one on one paper back and forth.	5/11/2020 1:57 PM
5	I need to talk with a Counselor	5/11/2020 9:05 AM
6	A presentation of how to navigate canvas with online classes	5/10/2020 5:09 PM
7	I am not sure but I'd love to stay in school if it's possible	5/10/2020 11:01 AM
8	Open up more spots. The STEM classes I'm looking at are all waitlisted. I did not apply because of this.	5/9/2020 4:29 PM
9	I just wish we can go back to in person instruction	5/9/2020 4:20 PM
10	Some teacher need to be a little more informative	5/9/2020 2:09 PM
11	Make all the classes smaller or provide professors with extra, competent assistance so professors have more time with individual students	5/8/2020 6:56 PM
12	Nothing because it all depends if the virus is gone	5/8/2020 12:38 PM
13	I am not able to write but in discussions maybe I can define sorry	5/8/2020 12:09 PM
14	Give financial support so students can focus on school rather than providing during this pandemic	5/8/2020 9:18 AM
15	Please tell the professors to be accommodating and understanding. We're living in very stressful times and they are very inconsiderate of what their students are going through.	5/7/2020 9:30 PM
16	Let hands-on trade learning occur in secure environment	5/7/2020 12:06 PM
17	Nothing, just reopen the school and go back to normal cowards.	5/7/2020 10:02 AM
18	i would need help securing internet access before Summer but might be able to prepare for Fall - but only if my income increased enough to pay for it.	5/7/2020 8:07 AM
19	I'm not sure.	5/6/2020 7:55 PM
20	Keep me informed as SOON as possible	5/6/2020 7:47 PM
21	See above. I'm an older returning student. Online is not the best way for me to learn. I'm not engaged and it's harder to learn - for me.	5/6/2020 5:46 PM
22	Financial assistance needed	5/5/2020 11:51 PM
23	Instructor's availability when needed.	5/5/2020 8:04 PM
24	I have no computer to do my work and things with the library is not open so I have no clue how that would work.	5/5/2020 5:40 PM
25	If we have a lab we can go on campus for it.	5/5/2020 3:23 PM
26	Give pass or no fail, we are in an epidemic and no one is learning. this is unacceptable how we are supposed to transfer to online sessions when some students stay away from online classes because they know they cannot teach themselves online.	5/5/2020 2:29 PM
27	I think be more lenient in terms of grading and pushing P/NP deadlines like they did with this Spring 2020 semester.	5/5/2020 12:18 PM

32	For me, I definitely would need help with having a computer of some sort to continue as well as guidance through using some of the app's that are used for different classes. Also I would need help being able to have a stable internet access to be able to continue my education. I truly relied on the resources such as computer lab, academic resource center, library with books,computers,printers, etc. I chose in class instruction for a reason. I haven't been in a school setting since around the year 2000. I have a hard time absorbing information when studying by myself. Also in class instruction gives me the opportunity to be social with others. I've got a social anxiety disorder that I am trying to work through as well.	5/5/2020 4:20 AM
33	I think that it should be a pass or fail because online learning isn't meant for students. Even though a lot of us use technology, learning something online isn't the same as being in a school setting. I feel when you're at home, that's the place where you sleep, eat, etc... When you're at school you're more motivated to learn and can focus much better. A lot of students have been withdrawing from my classes because it's very stressful and they aren't online learners.	5/5/2020 12:32 AM
35	I think we would be okay with everything shift online but however, one thing that schools can do would be taking grading easy not as hard because it is already hard to teach yourself everything.	5/4/2020 8:51 PM
36	The college/district encourage student to continue schooling.	5/4/2020 8:08 PM

162	Make classes with professors that have great ratings more accessible (more available seats).	4/29/2020 12:51 PM
163	Theres not much the college can do during this pandemic. If i cant physically meet with a professor and work hands on with the material then I feel that skipping a semester into the Covid pandemic dies down will be best for my GPA and mental health. I believe that the foundation I am setting for future classes is extremely weak, I fear that I will struggle in my future classes because of this current semester. I dont feel like I am in college anymore.	4/29/2020 12:51 PM
164	The only issue with the online courses is that I, as a nursing major, need to take lab classes such as anatomy and physiology, and that isn't an option as an online class at least in the summer	4/29/2020 12:49 PM
165	I feel like I should go through disability services if classes continue online.	4/29/2020 12:47 PM

Resource Needs for Summer and Fall

166	By providing more access to mental health resources, sending out weekly emails about all zoom meetings for clubs, departments, etc. By providing additional resources to students (i.e. supplies needed to succeed). By altering classroom expectations/syllabuses in heart of the overall stress students take on from quarantine/isolation/inequities/covid. By providing more clear expectations/guidance/information for STEM courses (i.e. chemistry, etc.) Finding easier ways to do online labs for chemistry, or ways to complete math homework. The initiative to provide cheaper textbook costs like switching from mymathlab to myopen math is great/amazing, however, because of that the problems are more difficult to complete and there is even less instructions/help from the program when we get stuck on the problem. Mymathlab used to walk you through every step if you needed help, where my open math only has 1 video example that doesn't always apply.	4/29/2020 12:45 PM
167	I don't think there is anything to help. All of my fall courses are science and lab-based. I don't learn well online for these courses and so far labs are not working well online.	4/29/2020 12:40 PM

If the courses don't feel as if I'm blindly teaching myself every little thing, then it'd be helpful. Easier access to materials or resources would be great too. 240	Possibly make counselors more available. Have the professors make the homework accessible early and give more time on homework. A major plus would be to have the professors list out what homework they may be giving throughout the course. I am saying this because I have gotten 3 times more homework than I would have in the classroom. Which is very stressful and not helpful in any way. Plus it's harder because I'm not getting instructor time or notes to tell me how to do the work I am doing.	4/29/2020 9:55 AM

247	I think the institution should had a meeting to the instructors, specially those who never work online through canvas In the past, be nice if they can be more understanding about the time frame they imposed in regards of testing like midterms or quizzes as is important part of our grade. Because is very rare but it happens to me once with Professor Davi. She give us 1 1/2 hour to answer a Test of 60 questions. That particular time I got an IT issue Because in my computer canvas crashed. I took a picture of the computer screen I contact IT canvas support and When they fix my issue the time of my test was done and locked so I couldn't finished my test. Even though I send professor Davi an email With pictures and the IT tech told me he will send her an email y explaining my issue To her but she didn't aloud me to retake her test again or in fact at least "resume" The test where I was before the issue.	4/29/2020 9:46 AM

249	I believe that it is most important to provide what materials are going to be necessary ASAP. With everyone now going to be required to use resources like Amazon for books etc. since the bookstore will not be open there will be a limited number of books available from online resources to use for class. Perhaps allowing the professors to provide as much of the learning materials as possible would be beneficial to those students enrolled.	4/29/2020 9:42 AM

317	Nothing	4/29/2020 9:09 AM
318	Put the classes back the way they were!!! None of the partially or totally online classes... especially orchestra and I'm an art major so submitting assignments or trying to view others' work online is not working for me. BTW, the majority of young students do NOT like online classes either (I'm not so young anymore). Other seniors I speak to who might want to finish their degrees are totally intimidated by online formats and won't enroll.	4/29/2020 2:05 AM
319	Give more information and accessibility about impacted majors so we don't feel helpless	4/28/2020 2:10 PM
320	No internet service and with family being ill, it is a challenge to complete course work	4/28/2020 12:14 PM
321	Have counselors more available and better trained. I've spoken to 4 different counselors and got different information from all them	4/28/2020 9:58 AM

20	I am an international student,its been rough for me since the outbreak. a lot of my family members have been affected by COVID-19 in one way all the other. it has gone as far as affecting people who are sponsoring my education. I lost a dad,my life has been hell on earth. people supporting my education cannot do it like they used to and i cannot blame them. my mom and sibling do not even have enough to eat back home,psychologically i am traumatized and keeps getting worse. I pay a lot of money at LMC and due to my status I do not qualify for grants or scholarships,I am not allowed to work off campus and do not even have on campus job. my request would be,if i can either get tuition waiver,or grant and be allowed to work off campus my life will be better and will help get to medical school and fulfill my dream of helping human life my singular goal in life my phone number 9252724579,Wycliffe Nyandika	5/5/2020 11:09 AM
21	I think special support should be offered to workers who are considered "essential" because I feel there are no resources for the people on the front line and for some it's a decision between working or passing a class. I want to share that I as an "essential" worker have had no time off from work and have had more work than ever because of high demand due to covid 19.	5/5/2020 9:39 AM

32	Online classes for Summer/Fall 2020 might be inevitable, It still is very difficult for a lot of students like me to adjust to online courses. As for me, I have work and distractions at home so it makes it harder for me to keep my focus on school and classwork. All my professors record their zoom sessions and upload it on Canvas which is great to catch up on what we missed or use it as review, and I think it would be beneficial to a lot of students to have more flexibility with deadlines	5/4/2020 11:21 AM

35	I think it is really important that the school use it's 3,838,971 that it will be given from the stimulus as cash disbursements to students who need it the most instead of being absorbed by the school. Cash in hand is what the students need most because our different needs like rent, computers, webcams, internet service, medical expenses, food, etc. can all be better decided by the individual students on where the spending should go. I hope that when the finances are all sorted and the school has the cash in hand that it is used in this way.	5/4/2020 1:46 AM

109	I've never done an online class. The transition was extremely difficult for me. I was very discouraged, but I'm trying and I know professors are too. The only thing is, that I felt that some classes became harder on purpose because of the virus. Why not keep it the same, and be sensitive about the situation.	4/29/2020 7:35 PM
110	Please listen to the students. We are trying to succeed and we are all struggling. We need help with our classes and need professors to be reasonable. Professors NEED to be trained on how to switch to online courses. It's ridiculous that professors weren't required to use canvas before and now don't know how to even use it so all of the students are lost. Very disappointed to say the least.	4/29/2020 7:16 PM

137	I feel that teachers should ease up on the coursework. Yes we are college students, and yes we're adults that can manage our time. 148	If the professors aren't willing to really sit down and explain the material (instead of just showing pre-written notes with no explanation) then I feel like they should not assign so many assignments. Professors are supposed to TEACH not post links to Youtube videos that replace their purpose as my professor. I have not had a single "live lecture" it is just posting powerpoint slides or pre written notes.	4/29/2020 12:51 PM

202	I think the professors that normally do not do online classes need to somehow show empathy and not just talk about it. Physiology is a challenge subject already, and the professor inclass does not makes thinks easy and the transition to online class has just been such a struggle with this subject, since the professors are showing no mercy. I think the mentality that "oh well, this is how its in the real world" goes out the window, because in the real world I would be able to get help with childcare if needed, so I could study, in this case it is impossible.	4/29/2020 10:12 AM

None of the questions on this survey really addressed the quality of online teaching. Many of the problems are not on the students side but on the professors side. 253	STEM students need to be accommodated somehow because many of us were planning on taking chem26 over the summer so we could finish the chemistry series, its also very difficult to take heavy stem courses + labs online while being expected to attend class everyday because technical difficulties can happen and not all teachers accept that! There needs to be some new policy for exams because HonorLock or timing the tests while being on zoom (and even trying to do the exam the same amount of time we wouldve in person is ridiculous) is added stress which isn't helping us learn material! School has become more about passing than absorbing material due to teachers and students being stressed. Along with all of this, some professors aren't answering their emails which is HIGHLY unprofessional and makes the online transition a lot more difficult because we cant get help on assignments if they don't reply to us.	4/29/2020 9:15 AM
