=eLumen Pilot of Awesomeness!!!

Question / Comment / Experience / Things to change	Resolution / Plan / Contact	Follow up
Can you change from private to shared once the assessment is created?		03/03/2021: No, you would have to recreate the assessment (NM)
How can Person A look up an assessment Person B created? (In order to collaborate.)		03/03/2021: Yes, it would have to a shared assessment which can be looked up in the Assessment Library (NM)
Which assignments (from Canvas) can we link to eLumen? That is, when I tried the button under "Import Scores" (which reads LMS), several assignments I have created in my Canvas course become available. But, it is not all of them. I do not understand why a mixed bag of my assignments showed up. Is there something I need to do within the Canvas assignment itself?		03/03/2021: The reason why it is a mixed bag, is that the assignment needs to have a rubric created in Canvas. Otherwise, it will not include assignments without a rubric in the final scores. (NM)
Follow up to the (long) question above, what does "Rubric Mismatch" mean? This comes up next to each Canvas assignment visible in eLumen.		03/03/2021: There is a rubric attached to the assignment in Canvas, however, the rubric that was designed in eLumen does not correlate with the Canvas rubric. Must have an SLO to link it to. (NM) Marci, based on my conversation with Heather, this issue comes up a lot and should be addressed in our "How to" guide and videos.

		(NM)
Reflection questions...how to? Generic? Specific?		03/03/2021: TBD by college Can create a set reflection template, departments can create their own templates, or they can be created for individual assessments.
Private vs. Shared assessments - how can we turn private into a shared assessment if desired? Is this a glitch that needs to be fixed?	Can clone private assessments and save the cloned version to a shared library.	Can request to remove the option for "private" assessments.
Can quizzes in canvas be linked to eLumen? How would the rubric interact with this?	SLO will be attached to the entire quiz instead of individual questions via rubric. Rubric is in SpeedGrader.
How will combined sections impact data? Combine data from sections? Use excel? Reflection questions will help provide a holistic assessment of the combined sections.	As long as outcomes are shared across cross-listed courses (Eng / Soc), with data in eLumen--can run an SLO report and that will pull the data from both classes. e.g. CSLO performance report SP2020 Faculty performance report--coordinators and data stewards can pull.	Same department, same assessments--can combine data
I know the private vs. public issue is unresolved, but can a user select specific parties to share with? Or is it only the two? I only have experience with eLumen Guided Pathways.	Faculty view: The shared library only includes your department(s). Faculty cannot share with other departments, but data stewards can clone assessments and change the SLO's to match a different department.
Adding Outcomes to the rubric also adds points--that will mess up my grading, so how can I use the Outcomes	Uncheck the box that says "Use criterion for scoring"

without impacting grading / scores? (RE: using Canvas integration to assess CSLO's with eLumen)
Can we default to "Assessments" instead of "SLOS" on Assessment landing page?	NO
Can Canvas initiate pushing assessments to eLumen?		NO This will be part of Canvas next gen--the future looks bright!! :)
My rubric has 10 items / rows already...adding 9 CSLO's seems like overkill...	Philosophical discussion...tbc
Why use individual student scores instead of overall class?	REVIST - let's see what pilot group thinks What data do we want / need? Curriculum Committee went with simpler way	To collect data--???
To help me navigate, it would be nice if the "courses" icon was separated from the term. At first, I thought it was only a term function.
The assessment library confused me because after inputting my data, it did not show it. Then I realized there was an icon in the lower right side that defaulted to "shared assessments". After clicking "my private" assessments it would show the data. I recommend that it default to "all or my private" assessments to make it easier to find.
I would like more choices under the "assessment type" menu. Besides major final assessment, how about "final exam" and "final grade". We use that criteria in our assessments and it's unclear what to presently call it in Elemon.

Lastly, I handle the assessments for my part-timers. This program only illustrates my sections. How do I input data from another instructors section? Is it capable under shared assessments?
How does eLumen communicate with the roster in Canvas? For example, when a student drops, when/how is it updated in eLumen? How does the changes in student numbers affect our assessment throughout the course?
Having a way to rename the assessment questions once they are inputted without deleting them would be helpful.
An easier way to create the assessments for those with multiple sections is to create one assessment. Then, clone/add to all class sections. This will make the reflection write-up easier too because only one set of questions will need to be inputted for all sections.

NEXT STEPS:
Make a tab on TLC website to house videos, how-to guides, etc.
Videos "How To"
Quiz-how to add outcomes
Individual assignments with or without existing rubrics: Outcomes video

Does creating a Canvas shell work for training?