HIST-033 "Historians: Their Worlds & Their Craft"

54 total hours lecture 3 Units

ADVISORY: Eligibility for ENGL-100

An introduction to the idea and practice of history as a distinctive mode of human knowledge. Accepting that among nature's organisms only humans have and need history, and that history itself may be regarded as a "true story about the human past," this course will study historians who have contributed significantly to the 2500-year-old development of history as an ever-evolving tradition of human self-understanding. The course will proceed chronologically, critically, typologically and comparatively. It will focus on the lived contexts, representative texts and enduring legacies of selected historians. The completion of HIST-033 partially satisfies the requirement for a lower division history major. May not be repeated. SC

HIST-038 Contemporary U.S. History
54 total hours lecture 3 Units
ADVISORY: Eligibility for ENGL-100

This course will examine contemporary U.S history from World War II to the present. From a socially inclusive, trans-cultural and trans-national perspective students will critically evaluate the historical implication of U.S. cultural hegemony and imperial preeminence over other world nations and people. The course will address problems as follows: With reference to our national past, to what extent is our current, hegemony continuous or discontinuous with the "nationalism" of earlier generations? Since contemporary American ideology claims a special role for the "American System" in the building of a universal order of "liberal-capitalist democracy" to what extent is this claim compatible with or inimical to the real prospects for world democracy in the 21st century? "Cultural wars," "global warming," "terrorist rivalries" and extreme materialism are the signature issues of late modernity. May not be repeated. SC
