LMC Appreciation Week

April 21 - 25

Let's not say our names
or what we do for a living.
If we are married
and how many times.
Single, gay, or vegan.

Let's not mention
how far we got in school.
Who we know,
what we're good at
or no good at, at all.

Let's not hint at how much money we have
or how little.
Where we go to church
or that we don't.
What our Sun Sign is our Enneagram number our personality type according to Jung or whether we've ever been Rolfed, arrested, psychoanalyzed, or artificially suntanned.

Let's refrain, too, from stating any ills.
What meds we're on including probiotics.
How many surgeries we've survived or our children's children's problems.
And, please—
let's not mention
who we voted for
in the last election.

Let's do this instead:
Let's start by telling
just one small thing
that costs us nothing
but our attention.

Something simple
that nourishes
the soul of our bones.
How it was this morning
stooping to pet the sleeping dog's muzzle
before going off to work.

Or
yesterday,
walking in the woods
spotting that fungus on the stump
of a maple
so astonishingly orange
it glowed like a lamp.

Or just now,
the sound
of your own breath
rising
or sinking
at the end of this sentence.

The screenshot displays the Contra Costa County California website interface for the Community Warning System (CWS). At the top, there are logos for the county and a sheriff's badge, along with the text "Contra Costa County California". Below this is a navigation bar with links: "Current Alerts", "My Alerts", "Notification Methods", "CWS Test 8/28/2013", and "About".

The main content area is titled "Test Message - Mon, 21 Apr 2014 14:41 PM". It features a map of the area around Walnut Creek, California, with a red oval highlighting a specific location. The map includes labels for "Walnut Creek", "John Muir Memorial Hospital Helipoint", "Lime Ridge Regional Open Space", and "Ygnacio Valley".

On the left side of the alert, there is a "Current Alerts:" section with the following details:

- Test Message
- Issue Date: Mon, 21 Apr 2014 14:41 PM
- Description: This is a test of the Community Warning System. In the event of an actual emergency, check this website, TV or radio for more information. Please stay off the phone and do not call 9 1 1 unless you have an emergency to report at your location.
- Instruction: Please disregard this test message.
- Number of active alerts: 1

On the right side, there is a section titled "The Community Warning System (CWS) alerts people in Contra Costa County to imminent threats to their life and safety. Depending on the emergency and affected area, a combination of Notifications Methods may be used, including:" followed by a list of methods:

- Sirens
- Telephone alerts
- Text message and Email alerts
- Facebook
- Twitter
- NOAA Weather Radios
- Emergency Alert System
- Wireless Emergency Alerts

At the bottom of the alert, it says "Alert 1 of 1". Below the map, there is a footer for "Alerting Solutions, Inc. The Alert and Warning Systems Specialists" and social media sharing icons for Facebook, Twitter, LinkedIn, and others.
